It's time for a more spiritually enlightened view of our world

Barnes Healing Church may be an elegant Victorian church, but its spirit is that of a house of prayer in the 21st Millennium. This church represents the future of places of worship - it's a non-denominational sacred building open to everyone, and its healers and teachers are totally committed to caring for people and animals. The atmosphere of warmth and welcome is tangible.

At a moment in time when many national and political leaders are no longer reckoned to be sensible role models, it's nice to find a church that comes under the guidance of a skilled, modest, unassuming, professional healer and interfaith minister — the Rev Verity Jones, who is Chair of the charity that runs the Healing Church.

Over the past few months Verity's inspired and enthusiastic volunteer team has continued to invite some of the UK's most outstanding spiritual and religious teachers to host services and run workshops covering a broad range of faith, mind & spirit topics.

On May 8th the acclaimed spiritualist medium and author Donna Stewart will hold an inspirational workshop entitled The Power of the Spirit. A week after this, interfaith minister Rev Anthea Ballam will look at the latest discoveries on Reincarnation and Life Between Lives. For more workshop news, turn to page two.

Exploring Reincarnation and Life Between Lives

An adventure in time and place that looks at the variety of evidence gathered on past life recollections, as well as considering the new research into souls in the "life between lives" state. The history of reincarnation, regression therapy and their recent discoveries all form part of the workshop.

The afternoon session takes a look at death and the discarnate state and the new ideas that have emerged from research in Europe and the US. The workshop is run by Rev Anthea Ballam.
